WINE

Wines for the Grill

The Show Malbec, Argentina, $13.99

– Some of you may be familiar with The Show Cabernet Sauvignon. If not, the story is that 3 California wine makers (Joel Gott, Roger Scomegna, Charles Bieler) got together to make great wines at great prices. Like The Show Cabernet, The Show Malbec is pretty good bang for your buck, and should be popular this grilling season. Full and plush with juicy blackberry and spice notes, tangy acidity, and smooth tannins, this is a winner with steaks and kabobs.

Vinos Sin Ley Afinus, Spain, $8.99 – We've been carrying wines from Vinos sin Ley (Wines without Law) for quite some time now. They are excellent values all around. The Afinus is no exception. Made with 100% Grenache, Afinus is loaded with bright, punchy red fruit, a touch of spice, and supple tannin. This is a terrific everyday wine that will make fast friends with your grilled red meats and pizza.

Cartlidge & Brown Sauvignon Blanc, Lake County, $11.99 – Like their Cabernet Sauvignon, the Sauvignon Blanc from Cartlidge & Brown is a good example of varietal fundamentals. A lightly herbaceous nose, good crisp acidity with grapefruit, citrus, and a touch of melon on the palate make this wine very refreshing. Chill this down and serve it on a warm day with fresh grilled chicken!

SPIRITS

A Ready-To-Drink Margarita that's almost as good as making your own!

Coyote Gold Margarita, $11.99/750ml or $22.99/1.75L – Everyone knows the best margaritas are homemade. But what if you're on the go and just don't have the time or access to the right ingredients? Coyote Gold should be your first choice. We tried this just the other day and were very impressed. This is the most authentic tasting pre-mixed margarita I've ever had. A must have at your summer party!

short: Hades is delicious. A Belgian ale inspired beer, but with an American twist. Where the typical Belgian Golden Ale will have a strong and sweet malt character, GD has added a hop crispness to Hades that really balances out the classic style. This beer is easy to throw back on a summer day, but watch out for the almost 8% ABV!

Bells Oberon, $8.99/6pack – Bell's summer seasonal brew, Oberon, is something we look forward to every year. Oberon is a spicy wheat ale that is incredibly smooth. This is a great, refreshing summer seasonal!

BEER

Great Summer Refreshers!

Great Divide Hades, $9.99/6pack – I could go on and on about many of Great Divide's brews, so I'll keep this
